Significance. We demonstrate the immunosuppressive function of T FH-like cells that are modulated by PD-1 and CTLA-4 blockade in opposing directions, thus broadening our understanding of the incremental activity of combination checkpoint blockade. Our results indicate that these cells may serve as a pharmacodynamic and prognostic biomarker in patients treated with checkpoint blockade.

Immunotherapy has revolutionized cancer treatment. Immune-checkpoint inhibitors, on balance, showed a favorable efficacy/toxicity profile with durable response in different cancer types. No predictive biomarker has been validated thus far to select patients who would benefit from therapy. Among the candidate predictive biomarkers, mismatch repair status of the tumor is currently one of the ...

The gold standard for diagnosis of cirrhosis is a liver biopsy, through a percutaneous, transjugular, laparoscopic, or fine-needle approach. A biopsy is not necessary if the clinical, laboratory, and radiologic data suggests cirrhosis. Furthermore, there is a small but significant risk of complications from liver biopsy, and cirrhosis itself predisposes for complications caused by liver biopsy.

Loss of estrogen from menopause increases the risk of developing metabolic diseases. Torres et al. show that 17 $\beta$ -estradiol (E2) localizes to mitochondrial membranes consistent with whole-body E2 status. The presence of E2 decreases microviscosity, which improves bioenergetic function, thus offering a biophysical mechanism by which E2 influences energy homeostasis.
